

---

Subject: Re: error messages

Posted by Rick Towler on Thu, 11 Jul 2002 19:41:34 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

Another person who emailed me off list ran into the same problem with AVI_OPENW and assures me that his path is correct. He said that AVIkrTest8Bit.pro works w/o problem. He is running IDL 5.5 on win98. I can't verify it (don't have a win98 machine) but there may be an issue with the aviIDL.dlm and some versions of windows.

-Rick

"Rick Towler" <rtowler@u.washington.edu> wrote

> Wow, this is the second time today I have answered this one and it is only > 9am...

>

> Look at the source and read the docs. You need to set the path to the
.avi

> file you want to create in the call to AVI_OPENW. My guess is that

> 'D:/avi/' is not a valid path on your machine.

>

> -Rick

>

>

>

> "helen" <bin\_zheng\_99@yahoo.com> wrote in message > news:958f2cda.0207110641.7a9db718@posting.google.com...

>> Hello, all,

>>

>> When I run the program aviKRtest downloaded from

>> www.kilvarcok.com/freesoftware/dlms/avi.htm

>>

>> I got the error messages:

>> % AVI_OPENW: Unable to create avi compressed stream

>> % AVI_PUT: Expression must be an array in this context: AVIPARAMS.

>> % Execution halted at: AVIKRTEST

>>

>> Did anybody met such situation before? Could you let me know how >> did you solve it?

>>

>> Thanks a lot.

>>

>> Helen

>

>

---