Maybe this isn't news to those lucky people who are beta-testing IDL on OS X, but I was just checking out the RSI website and they included this little tidbit (from the IDL on Mac OS X FAQ):

Update 7/18/2002: The beta testing program for IDL on Mac OS X based on IDL 5.5 has been in full swing for several weeks, and plans are still on track. We plan to provide a "pre-release" version for general testing during the IDL 5.6 beta period, scheduled to begin in mid-August. The Mac OS X version of IDL will be built on IDL 5.6 and is expected to be released as part of the IDL 5.6 release. Please see the FAQ below for more details about IDL for Mac OS X.
