
Subject: Fwd: Announcing RSI User-Contributed Library
Posted by Ken Mankoff on Thu, 05 Sep 2002 16:51:40 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

>
> RSI is pleased to announce a new User-Contributed Library Web site > at:
>
> <http://www.rsinc.com/codebank/index.asp?p=1&WID=1278689& amp;s=988>
>
> The RSI User-Contributed Library is your tool for sharing code, > images, data, and even technical white papers with other members of > the RSI Software community. Submitting and retrieving files is a > simple process. There are already a number of ENVI and IDL programs > submitted by long-time users. We hope that you will enjoy the site, > and that you will check back often as the collection grows.
>
> While the Web site is provided by RSI, the files in the library are > provided by users of our software. When you contribute files to the > library, your files still belong to you, and you will retain the > ability to update or remove them.
>
> For more information, please read our recent press release:
>
> <http://www.rsinc.com/pr/detail.asp?p=1&PRID=76&WID=1 278689&s=988>
>
