Subject: Re: User Forum now available on RSI site
Posted by David Fanning on Mon, 23 Sep 2002 17:31:11 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

William (wmc@bas.ac.uk) writes:

> But seriously... I don't want to read 2 idl newsgroups > (especially when the RSI one isn't available from tin) > so I somewhat doubt it will get much traffic. Maybe thats > too pessimistic.
>
>>   http://www.dfanning.com/misc_tips/iepa.html
>
> I want to know: Whats this years question?

The Committee on Questions is still working on this year's question (in fact, they are still asking when the question is due, but I've already answered this question a dozen times and I don't intend to answer it again!), but I've heard rumors it has something to do with objects.

I thought a good question might be "What is a simple way to make a complete and faithful copy of an object?"
But it may be that my colleague, Dave Burridge, and I are the only ones to know the answer to this. The good folks at RSI either don't know or they are unwilling to let the rest of the world in on it. Let's just say Dave and I were shocked when we realized how easy it was!

Cheers,

David

--
David W. Fanning, Ph.D.
Fanning Software Consulting, Inc.
Phone: 970-221-0438, E-mail: david@dfanning.com
Coyote's Guide to IDL Programming: http://www.dfanning.com/
Toll-Free IDL Book Orders: 1-888-461-0155