someone is selling a Windows 5.6 version brand new for a starting bid of .25 US cents but it's useless without the license so might as well fling them around the room for fun :-)

Yeah I don't think RSI likes students anyway considering they haven't responded back to my email....time to go into "kidde-hacker" mode and write a Perl script to copy the install files off of the school's network and crack the nodelock license :-) only kidding so RSI please don't send me a lawsuit in the mail....well if anyone comes across anything that might help me out let me know, I appreciate it and enjoy
