Hi William,

Starting a program from an IDL-Application CAN make sense in any environment, but that's not what I want to discuss here and now.

It works fine under NT4. And I want to make my IDL-Application platform independent.

I'm not responsible (nor do I really want to be) for the OS of other people.

So, I just wanted to have the simple question answered:

"Is it supposed to work, (then there should be a switch that forbids it on my system), or NOT (then I should forget the stuff)

Thanks
