Randall Skelton (rhskelto@atm.ox.ac.uk) writes:

> OK, I realize that I am being a tad greedy here but I really do think that > IDL objects are too limited in their current scope and it is beginning to > become a real problem for me.

I'm not disagreeing with you at all, Randall. Just doing my bit to set your expectations appropriately. :-)

> My message to RSI is that I don't really need any more GUI tools, > spread-sheet views or slow pointy-clicky interfaces.

Let's just say I can't wait to hear your report on the big RAL shindig in June. It should be ah... interesting. :^)

I will say this, though, and I don't think it breaks any confidences. I've had a peak at a couple of things that make my heart beat a whole lot faster. But maybe I'm just young and in love again, now that it's Spring.

Cheers,

David
--
David W. Fanning, Ph.D.
Fanning Software Consulting, Inc.
Phone: 970-221-0438, E-mail: david@dfanning.com
Coyote's Guide to IDL Programming: http://www.dfanning.com/
Toll-Free IDL Book Orders: 1-888-461-0155