
Subject: Re: What does an optimal scientific programming language/environment need?

Posted by Ken Plotkin on Sun, 21 Sep 2003 17:16:31 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

On Sun, 21 Sep 2003 17:29:12 +0100, John Sullivan
<spamtrap@yddraiggoch.demon.co.uk> wrote:

> If you follow the link to the 920 programming languages on page
> <http://wombat.doc.ic.ac.uk/foldoc/contents/language.html>
> you will see that at least 5 languages are missing:
> A, A+, J, K, Q-Nial

Make that at least six. I don't see COMAL listed, either.
