Subject: IDL and supercomputers?

Has anyone worked with ENVI/IDL on any supercomputers? Any suggestions on optimizing code for use with them? I'm currently trying to get time on the San Diego Supercomputer, and was wondering if its worth the time -- one question I had, in this case, is there such thing as too MANY processors (the SDSC has 1100!) -- do I want to limit the number of threads when working on an array? Thanks! Any other stories related to this would be great!
