Subject: Re: Best way to prevent deformed IDL widgets?
Posted by dwu2 on Tue, 14 Mar 1995 21:39:41 GMT

Use XPdMenu instead of WIDGET_BUTTON.

Ding

Tim Patterson (patterso@astrosun.tn.cornell.edu) wrote:
: I am using IDL to create some widgets for data handling. When I create the
: window and place the widgets in it, IDL will stretch the last widget
: in a row so that it matches the width of the window. This means for
: instance, that if I try and put three buttons at the bottom of a wide
: window such as PRINT USE and CLOSE I get:

: | PRINT | | USE | | CLOSE |

: with the close button being stretched out of shape.

: Is it possible to either (a) stretch all buttons in proportion or
: (b) prevent this stretching mechanism by a simple method (fixing the
: size of the widgets directly makes it awkward to update at a later
: date)

: Thanks

: Tim Patterson
: :