
Subject: Re: Interpreter stack not aligned properly during user return.
Posted by Nuno Oliveira on Fri, 05 Mar 2004 17:16:37 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Seems that the only error was that I was doing

```
(mask)[indices] = 255b
```

instead of

```
mask[indices] = 255b
```

Well, mask is indeed a tag of a pointer to structures. But the question is that the question was solved only by removing the parenthesis.

"Nuno Oliveira" <nmoliveira@fc.ul.pt> wrote in message news:c2a6n4$fh$1@pegasus.fccn.pt...

> Interpreter stack not aligned properly during user return.
>
> Can anyone help about this error message? What may cause this?
>
> By the way. Is, in IDL tutorials, a section what interpreting error > messages?
>
> Cheers,
>
> Nuno.
>
