I want to create a widget similar to the output log for VM operation.

1. How do I access the label widget ID from the main-level program (there are no events)?

2. How can I update the contents of the label widget while retaining all that has been written there previously?

On an unrelated topic, I have implemented the CW_DEFROI compound widget in another application, but when called it is always partially or entirely obscured by the large top-level base. Can I bring it to the front?

Thanks
