
Subject: Re: will pay
Posted by R.G. Stockwell on Mon, 24 May 2004 19:46:42 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

"elias" <heoa@hotmail.com> wrote in message news:e920fce6.0405221427.2221e938@posting.google.com...
> hello,
> I was just wondering if anyone knows how to contract someone to solve > a simple problem. It is a very simple thing I think...but I just have > not been able....SOOO frustrating!
> Is it very expensive, taking into account that is just for my thesis > work?
>
> Thanks,
> "desperate woman"

A contractor is likely more than a typical thesis budget would allow.
I'd say something like US$100/hr is probably in the ballpark. The more expertise required, the higher the cost.
And it would take a handful of hours just to look at the problem.

Another approach would be to present your problem here (if it is an IDL problem) and maybe a lurker could help.
I'm sure lots of people would try to help, especially if it is an academic/thesis related venture.

Cheers,
bob
