
Subject: Re: Contour Plotting

Posted by David Fanning on Wed, 09 Jun 2004 18:33:15 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Jeff Waksman writes:

> I'm using CONTOUR, but it's > interpolations seem wrong. It's putting huge peaks and valleys where > there aren't even data points. Anyway, I was just wondering if there > is a newer, better function for interpolation than CONTOUR. Also, I'm > working on IDL 5.3 and I was wondering if IDL 6.0 would be better. Is > it worth my time to do the upgrade?

For the CONTOUR command!? I think the last time the CONTOUR command code changed David Stern still had peach fuzz for whiskers. :-(

Cheers,

David

--

David Fanning, Ph.D.

Fanning Software Consulting, Inc.

Coyote's Guide to IDL Programming: <http://www.dfanning.com/>
