
Subject: Re: Multiple IDL versions

Posted by jgd42-google on Fri, 13 Aug 2004 16:49:02 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Nigel Wade wrote:

> On Thu, 12 Aug 2004 11:56:15 -0700, Joe wrote:

>

>> Hello all-

>>

>> Is there a way to run multiple versions of IDL at the same time (by the >> same user)?

>>

>> When I run IDL 6.0 in one xterm and then try to run IDL 5.4 in another >> xterm, it says no license is available.

>>

>> Thanks!

>> -Joe

>

> If both instances are run on the same system, by the same user and output > to the same display they should share a license. I don't actually have 5.4
> to test that version, but I can run 5.3 and 6.0, and 5.5 and 6.0
> simultaneously and it only uses the "6" floating licenses of a single > instance of IDL.

>

> At least that is the case with floating licenses, I'm not sure about node > locked licenses.

Ahh. That must be why it doesn't work for me. We use node-locked. :(

When you do that with floating licenses, does it actually use 2 licenses then?

Thanks!

-Joe
