So are you saying that you can read the post-1995 format? If so, how?
Is there any possibility of your modifying the reader for the post-1995 file so that it will cope with the difference in record length?

Please be patient if the answers to these questions seem obvious to you, but I don't know much about ENVI. Please realise when you post questions to a news group that you need to give the readers enough information for them to help you.
