As circuitous as this is, I learned that I can do this with ImageMagick:

convert file.eps file.pdf && convert file.pdf file.ps

Going through PDF in the middle causes the final Postscript file to keep the vector information rather than changing it to raster image. The odd thing is that the simpler command causes the PS created to be a raster image.

convert file.eps file.ps

Strange behavior if you ask me.
