I am pretty sure the answer is no.

You definitely can't using the IDL VM as it can't compile anything.  If it could none of us would need to pay for IDL.

I am unsure if a fully licensed idlrt can compile.  My guess is that it can't.  You can easily find out.  You have an IDL license.  Test your program by invoking idlrt with the -novm switch to force it to grab a license and see if it works.
