Hi,

I am new to IDL and in doubt if the GUIbuilder will be a bad solution long term. It seems the GUI builder (WIN) has some limitations. Some keywords for widgets cannot be set using the GUIbuilder and by setting them in the *.pro file they are overwritten each time the GUIlayout is changed and the project recreated.. (eg. /suppress_value) Is it better to not use the GUIbuilder at all, what are peoples experiences?

Best regards Soren
