Subject: Re: Writing output files with ION/Script
Posted by Haje Korth on Wed, 19 Jan 2005 12:59:56 GMT

Wayne,
the PNG and JPEG format is only for display in the browser. No one prevents you from creating postscript files in ION, which can be downloaded using a download script. I do this all the time.

Haje

"Wayne Landsman" <landsman@sampa.gsfc.nasa.gov> wrote in message news:csjsl4poe1@skates.gsfc.nasa.gov...
> The ION page on RSI's website (http://www.rsinc.com/ion/) gives the > wavelet demo (http://ion.researchsystems.com/IONScript/wavelet/).
> One nice feature of this demo is the ability to save the output image as > a postscript (or EPS) file.   However, as far as I can tell from the > ION/Script documentation the only available output image formats are > PNG, PNG24 and JPEG24.   The source code is not available for this > site -- perhaps they use some non-ION/Script elements to get the > postscript output?
>
> What I would really like to do is be able to output a binary (FITS) file > after the user has modified an image.
>
> Thanks, --Wayne Landsman
>