Subject: Re: Blurred display of images in PDFs created from EPS on Mac OS X
Posted by Karl Schultz on Mon, 07 Feb 2005 16:39:48 GMT

On Mon, 07 Feb 2005 06:05:17 -0800, jm wrote:

> I don't think it's anything to do with how the PDF was created.
> It's 'simply' Aqua is trying to be helpful: "Here is a graphic > comprised > of only a fews tens of image (i.e. scaleable postscript) pixels shown > using tens of thousands of (LCD) display pixels - I will smooth it out > to look nicer".

This discussion was posted to uk.comp.sys.mac where there is a solution offered involving changing the PDF workflow to turn off image interpolation.

Karl