Subject: Deleting structures (does this work, or am I missing something?)

I've read a few posts about deleting named structures in IDL being impossible, but if I simply assign a previously defined structure name to be some numerical value (e.g. `mystructure=0`), then `mystructure=create_struct(newstuff:newdata)` should work as if `mystructure` never existed, right? It seems to be doing this on my system, but I'm wondering if some crazy behavior is going to pop up later...
