You are probably right, but...still, I've pretty much given up competitive tennis and I never thought that would happen!

I feel like a snake shedding his skin. Who knows what is possible?

With respect to the web page, I have no current plans to abandon it, although the domain registration comes up for renewal soon and the PayPal contributions have been, well, less than overwhelming. I'd probably have to conclude there are about 5 people who find the information especially useful. :-)

Still, I need a forum for all the travel writing I plan soon. :-)

Cheers,

David
