

---

Subject: Re: Problem with IDLWAVE in XEmacs 21.5.18

Posted by JD Smith on Tue, 21 Jun 2005 03:12:08 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

On Tue, 14 Jun 2005 15:14:17 -0600, Sean Davis wrote:

> Sean Davis wrote:

>

>> Hello

>>

>> I recently upgraded from SuSe linux 9.2 to 9.3. Along with this upgrade, >> my >> xemacs was upgraded to 21.5.18 beta. I did not re-install idlwave

>> (5.6pre6) or idl (6.1), and now I am having some problems with IDLWAVE.

>>

>>

>> When I try to get routine info on any routine (built-in IDL or mine) using

>> C-c ?, it doesn't do anything but print a line saying

>>

>> Symbol's function definition is void: cancel-timer

You apparently need to hand-load the 'timer sub-component, which shouldn't be necessary, and is likely a bug in a recent XEmacs. Make sure also that you have fsf-compatible.

Have a look at this recent thread:

http://groups-beta.google.com/group/comp.lang.idl-pvwave/browse\_thread/thread/2865cc406c25b9a5/0b504fbd3dea444a

JD

---