Does anyone out there know if it is possible to define a new software font for use in PV-Wave. The application we are building must support alternative languages for output (Welsh to be precise) and none of the existing fonts provide all the required characters.

The same problem would appear to exist with french and german, since there seems to be no way to print accents, umlaut, cedilla (sp?) etc.

Anyone found a way round this problem?

Alan Bell