
Subject: Re: IDL Documentation tool

Posted by Mathieu Malaterre on Thu, 21 Jul 2005 14:50:05 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

thanks

Miguel Angel Cordoba wrote:

> You can try IDLDOC <http://www.rsinc.com/codebank/search.asp?FID=100>

>

> Miguel Angel.

>

> Mathieu Malaterre wrote:

>

>

>> I just came accross ROBODoc:

>>

>> <http://sf.net/projects/robodoc>

>>

>> Looks generic enough that it should do the work.

>>

>> Mathieu

>>

>>

>> Mathieu Malaterre wrote:

>>

>>

>>> Hello,

>>>

>>> I have just started with IDL. And the first task I am trying to >>> do is improve some already existing testing software(*) to work with >>> IDL.

>>>

>>> One of the very first thing I want to do is generate >>> documentation from an IDL code. Usually I would just go to doxygen, >>> but unfortunately -IMHO- IDL is not one of the supported langage.

>>>

>>> I was searching on the net and the only thread I found was this one:

>>>

>>> <http://groups-beta.google.com/group/comp.lang.idl-pvwave/msg/ffeef7e9e8a1cd35>

>>>

>>>

>>> Does anyone know what happen to this code from Michael Plugge ?

>>>

>>> Thanks

>>> Mathieu

>>

>

>
