Subject: Re: Breakpoints in IDL 6.2 (windows)
Posted by JD Smith on Wed, 17 Aug 2005 21:42:48 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

On Thu, 18 Aug 2005 09:18:49 +1200, Mark Hadfield wrote:

> David Fanning wrote:
>> Folks,
>>
>> [Problems with breakpoints & projects described]
>>
>> Has anyone else seen this problem?
>
> No, but I've always found breakpoints in IDLDE on Windows pretty flaky.
> Little yellow dots appear in the wrong place (ie not on the line where > the cursor was when you pressed F9); sometime breakpoints can't be set;
> that sort of thing.

Well, some lines are not valid places to break, so IDL chooses the nearest line. The same behavior occurs in IDLWAVE. Haven't played with 6.2 yet, so I'm not sure if there are any BP issues.

JD