I replaced my Info.plist with the version that Marshall Perrin posted. I also 'touch'ed the folder and nothing happened at first.

After my latest restart though (takes me a while until I need to restart my PB) Spotlight seems to find contents of SOME of my pro-files. It even would find stuff (e.g. 'n_params') in some files but not in others in the same folder!

I played around and it seems like it only finds contents in files that had been opened by TextEdit at some point or other.

So, I'm not sure if the Info.plist thing did anything at all, or if it at least makes Spotlight find it once TextEdit opened it (and OSX knows it's a text file?).

Any other experiences?

Chris