On Thu, 24 Nov 2005, Richard G. French wrote:
> Thanks to Jean and Craig and others - I've now started using CVS > and I'm beginning to get the hang of it. I haven't yet sorted out > the 'tags' part of things, or freezing versions of a full set of > routines, but I'm getting there!
> Dick

Looks like I'm too late to influence your decision, but I switched to subversion from CVS about 1 year ago and its been great. Many improvements over CVS. I suggest it instead.

Whichever you use, a nice wrapper like Trac, webCVS, etc. can make it easy to see whats going on. I think Trac supports CVS, if not, it will in an upcoming release.

  http://projects.edgewall.com/trac

  -k.