

---

Subject: iTools/interactive Analysis >

Posted by catwithhat on Tue, 04 Apr 2006 16:06:38 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

When I first heard about iTools I thought it was going to be a great addition to IDL. A way to combine command-line-based analysis with, click and point modification of graphics (IDL's answer to Matlab). After how many years now (?) iTools still seems like a slow, difficult to use and ugly! behemoth that seems too unwieldy for interactive analysis. Am I the only who feels this way? Are we too small of a market? Is RSI just not hearing from us? Maybe I am alone?

Thanks

Axel

---