Posted by Michael Galloy on Wed, 31 May 2006 15:37:44 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

David Fanning wrote:
> Michael Galloy writes:
>> It is also "project based" (i.e. every file is part of a project), so
>> I'm interested in how that is going to work for the "interactive IDL" users.
>
> Oh, oh. The thing isn't even released yet and already we are > hearing about the Dark Side. This can't be good.

I would just call it a lack of my imagination.

>> The other thing that I think will be great is that it should be open to >> third party authors making plugins that extend (or change) the >> functionality of the DE. It only takes a few developers out there making >> plugins to greatly enhance the value of the new DE.
>
> Well, now this sounds like the marketing model I'm more > used to. :-)
>
> Cheers,
>
> David
>
> P.S. Do you think the people making the value-added plug-ins > will get a T-shirt?
>

Believe me, if there was anything I could have done about the Unix DE, I would have done it long ago. I think this is a step up.

Mike
--
www.michaelgalloy.com