Subject: mapping/zooming Posted by lena on Fri, 11 Aug 1995 07:00:00 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

In article <40fpvj$f0i@columba.udac.uu.se>, svenw@Minsk.docs.uu.se (Sven Wallman) writes:

- > delp@vexcel.com (Steve Delp) writes:
- >
- >> I'm trying to display a map of the north polar region.
- >> First, I'd like to have the window initialized with the continents between
- >> 55-90 degrees lat displayed. I've tried
- >> map_set, 90, /grid, /continent, /azimuthal, limit=[55,-180,90,180]
- >> but I get floating point errors. Any ideas?

>

- > I'm no expert on projections, but you can't have the north pole as a center.
- > Try using 89 instead of 90, but the map will probably look somewhat distorted.

>

I have produced a number of polar region data visualization plots and I don't see anything wrong with using

map_set,90,/grid,/continent,/azimuthal,limit=[55,-180,90,180]

It works on my computer.

-Lena Marshak