
Subject: Running Windows IDL under wine
Posted by swingnut on Wed, 28 Jun 2006 16:45:10 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

The development of linux distributions being what it is, I bought the Windows version of the student distribution. Now that Ubuntu Dapper has come out, I boot into Windows about one a week to do something since I can run idlde under wine just fine. I just read the help files in Adobe (the hyperlinks work fine, though the index does not). The preferences menu works fine, but spawning dialogs inside of it, say to do things like change the start directory or to alter the PATH variable locks it up.

Does anyone have experience with issues like this? Were you able to resolve it?
