Subject: Re: IDL can't find procedures after changing shell
Posted by IDL_Newbie_2000 on Wed, 28 Jun 2006 01:08:24 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Sorry for all, I just had a typo in defining the IDL_PATH

IDL_PATH="<IDL_DEFAULT>:"+...

was typed as

IDL_PATH="<IDL_DE"R"AULT>:"+...

Sorry again for the spam...

IDL_Newbie_2000 wrote:
> Dear all,
>
> I am using idl licensed to my school (Fefora Linux system, IDL 6.2).
> Recently I have changed my default shell from tcsh to bash, then I > found some standard IDL routines are no longer working. For example, > the procedure Identity.pro in
>
> /opt/rsi/idl/lib/identity.pro
>
> is not recognized by the idl program. Although when I expand
> '<IDL_DEFAULT>' variable, I can still see the directory
>
> /opt/rsi/idl/lib/
>
> is there. The same problem applies to procedures that read netCDF > files.
>
> This is quite confusing to me. Could any of you help me or give some > suggestions?
>
> I will appreciate your help very much,
>
> IDL_Newbie