

---

Subject: Re: IVolume/isosurface

Posted by Kenneth P. Bowman on Fri, 07 Jul 2006 18:09:18 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

In article <lc-dnWqhn7QrBTPZnZ2dnUVZ_s-dnZ2d@comcast.com>,
Michael Galloy <mgalloy@gmail.com> wrote:

> Karl's suggestion will fix this programmatic example too. You just need > to insert a
>
> vol_obj->select
>
> after creating an isosurface (and before creating the next isosurface).
> See the code below.
>
> Mike

Ah ha! That was not obvious to me. (But being nearly superannuated*, it is not surprising that it is not obvious.)

Thanks, Ken

*superannuated - adj., cause to become obsolete through age or new technological or intellectual developments.

---