
Subject: Greetings from Wimbledon

Posted by David Fanning on Mon, 10 Jul 2006 18:10:59 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Folks,

Greetings from Wimbledon, site of this summer's annual IEPA summer-fest. More news will follow later on my web page, but just so you don't have any doubt's about it, Nadal is for real and Federer is from a completely different planet! I have never, ever, seen tennis balls hit harder.

Now that I know how far I have to go, I think I am giving up my dreams of becoming a professional tennis player and returning to my day job. :-(

Cheers,

David

P.S. A summer trip of a life-time has turned into an adventure. I'll be heading to Benin, in West Africa, soon on my continuing quest to bring IDL knowledge to every corner of the world. I hope to keep in touch, but the Internet connections are becoming harder and harder to find at the same time the stories are becoming more and more interesting. And, in any case, I am suppose to be working on my French lessons, not writing articles. :-(

--

David Fanning, Ph.D.

Fanning Software Consulting, Inc.

Coyote's Guide to IDL Programming: <http://www.dfanning.com/>
