On Sun, 16 Jul 2006 07:00:25 -0400, Ken Mankoff put fingers to keyboard
and said:

> A great way to help learn them is to use an interactive (realtime) regex > demonstrator... A non-free one is the Regex Coach > http://weitz.de/regex-coach/ but I know some free ones exist, just not > where right now... If anyone has a web-based free version I'd love to know > about it.

According to the website, it's free for private or non-commercial use.
ISTM that "teaching yourself the ins and outs of regex's" is both private and non-commercial.

--
 +------------------+--------------------------------------- ------------+
Bruce Bowler | One learns in life to keep silent and draw one's
1.207.633.9600 | own confusions. - Cornelia Otis Skinner
bbowler@bigelow.org |
 +------------------+--------------------------------------- ------------+