
Subject: Re: Close window command?

Posted by Benjamin Hornberger on Mon, 24 Jul 2006 19:40:31 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

adisn123@yahoo.com wrote:

> Hello,
>
> My program generates 4 different images in 4 different window in one > operation.
>
> It is quite tedious to close every window after display to run the > program again after I change some > parameters in the program in order to see new 4 images.
>
>
> I'm wondering there is a way to kill/close the old windows when the > program starts over.
>
> Thank you.
>

You can use the WDELETE procedure. You have to know the window index of the window you want to close.

You could also reuse the old windows instead of deleting them (WSET before displaying the images).
