Subject: plotting
Posted by Amanda on Sat, 05 Aug 2006 16:08:12 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

I have a file of 103 redshift values and I want to plot them on the x axis against the number of times that each one occurs on the y axis. I found a subroutine called STRCNT but I don't know if its any use to me or not. I can't get it to work anyway. Anybody have any suggestions?
Thanks :)