Thanks for your suggestion. It was permission issue. I fixed it.

Thanks for your time,
HJ.

Jo Klein wrote:
> What happens when you open a command prompt and enter:
> dir /s /b D:\SCP_Folder\
> and
> echo test > y:\IRC_PARADIGM\test.txt
>
> hyperjiver@yahoo.com wrote:
>> Hi,
>>
>> I am trying to use FILE_COPY command to copy files from once source to >> destination.
>> I have the source as another computer mapped to my network. Destination >> is another computer mapped through network as well.
>>
>> This is what I wrote:
>>
>> FILE_COPY, "M:\", "Y:\IRC_PARADIGM", /RECURSIVE
>>
>> This works.
>>
>> I had to do the same from the source computer.
>>
>> So I wrote the command as:
>>
>> FILE_COPY, "D:\SCP_Folder\", "Y:\IRC_PARADIGM", /RECURSIVE
>>
>> I get error message saying "Unable to expand wildcard characters or >> file does not exist"
>>
>> I do not understand what is wrong here.
>>
>> Can anybody please help...
>>
>> Thanks,
>> HJ.
>>