

---

Subject: Re: why does the output jpeg look not as good as shown on screen?

Posted by David Fanning on Mon, 14 Aug 2006 23:12:43 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

Itsmktip21@gmail.com writes:

> Using the following commands:

>

> tvimage,imageout,position=[0,0,1,1]

> a=tvrd(true=3)

> write_jpeg,'out.jpg',a,true=3

>

> when I use quickshow to display the image, the saved image is not as > clear as it is shown in the IDL plot window, it is kind of blurring and > dimmer. Can one make a jpeg file which is identical to the one shown in > the IDL plot window?

You could try setting QUALITY=100 on the WRITE_JPEG command and eliminate any JPEG compression.

Cheers,

David

--

David Fanning, Ph.D.

Fanning Software Consulting, Inc.

Coyote's Guide to IDL Programming: <http://www.dfanning.com/>

---