Hi,

I have a couple of draw widgets displaying various gamma-scans. Now the user has to select two of them by clicking on them; done.

But now I want to let the user know where he clicked, so is it possible to draw some sort of red border of a few pix around the clicked draw-widget? I know they have a frame property, but that's just too thin and doesn't attract attention...

Thnx in advance,

Laurens
