
Subject: Re: IDL & iTools used as post-processor for other commercial software
Posted by David Fanning on Mon, 02 Oct 2006 21:26:29 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Mirko writes:

> if you google mirko love itools you will see a total of three posts so > far. They are not perfect, but for me they do an awesome job of > creating a graphic that I can export, and bring up at a later date to > edit some more.

I have been wondering for some time who the target audience for iTools was. I am really glad to know there is someone out there!

Cheers,

David

P.S. Please don't take some ONE literally. I'm always getting in trouble with ITTVIS for the most innocuous statements. :-(

--

David Fanning, Ph.D.

Fanning Software Consulting, Inc.

Coyote's Guide to IDL Programming: <http://www.dfanning.com/>

Sepore ma de ni thui. ("Perhaps thou speakest truth.")
