Subject: Re: wrapper functions
Posted by Dominic Metzger on Fri, 06 Oct 2006 21:02:04 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Yeah, I dont know if I will test all of the cases... I will just write the code so that it is impossible that anything can ever go wrong which is an easy task with my enormous knowledge about IDL. :-O

Thank you for all your help.... I just started another thread... on another possible approach... heheheh... hope to get your input on that one too.

dometz

David Fanning wrote:
> Dometz writes:
>
>> Well, at least I would like to do the best I can for the cases I >> already know of. Of course there is always the chance that I will miss >> some cases.
>
> You may have to make some assumptions. Thank goodness > for the command buffer and the arrow keys, huh?
>
> Cheers,
>
> David
> --
> David Fanning, Ph.D.
> Fanning Software Consulting, Inc.
> Coyote's Guide to IDL Programming: http://www.dfanning.com/
> Sepore ma de ni thui. ("Perhaps thou speakest truth.")