

---

Subject: Re: How to Sort/Uniq a list and keep its original index
Posted by Jean H. on Thu, 12 Oct 2006 16:19:01 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

without the histogram, you could try:

```
tmp = lindgen(650000)
tmp[indexU] = -1
duplicate = tmp[where tmp ne -1]
```

Jean

Dilkushi@gmail.com wrote:

```
> Dear all
> I have to sort a file with 650,000 records in search of duplicate > records.. and I need a list of duplicates (not a list without > duplicates)...
> indexS=sort(testTotal)
> test=testTotal[indexS]
> indexU=uniq(test)
>
> indexU is an index with no duplicates..
> how do I get an index pertaining to the duplicates only?..
> please help..
> thanks in advance
> dilkushi
>
```

---