
Subject: Re: vector of bin indices using histogram?
Posted by greg michael on Wed, 18 Oct 2006 21:42:35 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

The last odd result prompted me to fix a problem with the FSB clock speed (for some peculiar reason it resets to 11.5x100 MHz once in a while), so now back at 16*166 (or something like that), I get:

DIV: 2.3130000
MUL: 2.3429999

DIV still winning marginally, but with a different factor...

greg michael wrote:

> Athlon XP 2600+

>

> DIV: 3.8590002

> MUL: 4.2659998

>

> Seems to be unique in dividing faster than multiplying...

>

> Greg
