

---

Subject: Re: Issue with 6.3, Mac OS X 10.4, 3 displays, X11
Posted by Karl Schultz on Thu, 19 Oct 2006 15:54:06 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

On Thu, 19 Oct 2006 09:39:02 +0200, Karsten Rodenacker wrote:

- > What should I say?
- > Window,0,xpos=1500
- > does straddle the monitors. Hence xinerama(?) is working. It is show in
- > the list of X extensions.
- > isExtendedDesktop() is non-zero.
- > Still I cannot extend the window by dragging and not by creating it with
- > x/ysize:

I think the window manager that controls the X windows is not letting you do these things. I believe that the docs for MM support in IDL warn about this. The entire X/Aqua thing on OS X is tricky business. I'm not surprised that there are more restrictions on X windows than on Aqua (e.g., Finder) windows.

Karl

---