

---

Subject: Re: ENVI: procedure to get X, Y of pixel in displayed image

Posted by Mort Canty on Sat, 30 Dec 2006 10:35:46 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

Absolutely. He should look at

"User Defined Motion Routine"

in the ENVI System Preferences dialog.

Cheers

Mort

David Fanning schrieb:

> To make this work, you pretty much have to have a > way to translate from the window coordinate system > to the image coordinate system. I don't know ENVI, > so I am not sure how this is done there. But I should > think this is such a fundamental property of the way > ENVI must handle images that your efforts would be > more handsomely rewarded by searching the ENVI documentation > than by trying to write an IDL program to do it.
>
> Cheers,
>
> David

---