
Subject: Re: array handling

Posted by David Fanning on Sat, 06 Jan 2007 15:01:46 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

jochem.verelst@gmail.com writes:

> I am a newbie in IDL. Although I cannot handle the following problem, I > am sure for the 'Masters' this is peanuts.

>

> The problem:

> I wish to filter an array of redundant data in one line. This is a part > of the line to be filtered:

>

> -Inf -NaN -Inf 0.542373 2.39394 2.28125

> 0.000000 0.000000 0.000000

> 3.21053 1.21839 0.000000 -NaN 0.967213

> 2.03448 0.724138 0.000000 0.000000 0.000000

> -NaN

>

> With WHERE I can get rid of the zeros, but I dont know how to exclude > the '-NaN' and '-Inf'.

>

> Any help would be most welcome,

Here is an article that will help:

http://www.dfanning.com/tips/check_nan.html

Cheers,

David

--

David Fanning, Ph.D.

Fanning Software Consulting, Inc.

Coyote's Guide to IDL Programming: <http://www.dfanning.com/>

Sepore ma de ni thui. ("Perhaps thou speakest truth.")
