Subject: Re: TRIANGULATE. Finding contiguous cells efficiently?

Posted by Libertan on Tue, 27 Feb 2007 20:27:13 GMT

In the above, when I said "Instead, would something like x+1./y guarantee uniqueness?"
I meant A+1./B where A and B are vertex indices. The x,y coords of the vertices don't play a role at all.